VENETIAN GLASS

From the island of Murano near Venice, Italy comes this “Millefiori” glass, also known as mosaic glass. The intricate patterns are produced by a special technique of layering many different pieces of hand-blown glass before fusing them together. The result is a myriad of unique combinations of colors, shapes, and sizes.

BYZANTINE MOSAICS

These handmade works of art are made of tiny, individual pieces of Venetian Glass. First, threads of enameled glass are cut into tiny shapes. Next, the intricate designs are arranged piece by piece onto a fine brass mounting and secured by a special putty. Finally, the piece is finished with handmade filigree. Each unique pendant comes in assorted glass colors.

Pendants ship in assorted glass colors. Metal mounting is either gold- or silver-plated, depending upon the item.

OLIVE WOOD COLLECTION

Master carvers find their inspiration in the tranquility of the Umbrian countryside just outside of Assisi. Umbria is the “green heart” of Italy, and is known as the “terra dei Santi” (Land of the Saints). Here, artists create pendants and crosses from the abundance of olive wood.

Every pendant has unique variations in color and wood grain pattern.
